

UPWARD TURN IN EXCHANGE.

Secretary Foster's Visit Brings About Better Prices.

Industrials Lead in the Advance—Affairs in Wall Street.

WALL STREET, Monday, Feb. 13.—The bears were, if anything, more aggressive than their opponents this morning, because they have the advantage of the unsettled feeling occasioned by the continued exports of gold and the uncertainty as to whether the Treasury Department will decide upon the issue of a new loan or postpone action until the Cleveland Administration comes into power.

Under the circumstances prices held remarkably well. With the exception of American Tobacco, in which the late-raced manipulation has disgusted the whole street, the decline was only moderate. The Air Line Tobacco broke 54 to 104, rallied to 100, reacted to 104 and recovered to 105 1/2.

Subsequently the industrials developed market strength and the general list improved in sympathy.

Wheat 1 to 40 1/2; Rubber 1 to 40; Cotton Oil 15 to 40 1/2; Western Union 1 to 107 1/2; and Chicago Gas 15 to 10 1/2.

The sales up to noon were 15,000 shares. A firmer tone characterized the dealings of the afternoon. The market was strengthened by reports that the conference of bankers to be held after business hours at the Hotel Astor, and that the meeting would be required to issue $50,000,000 of bonds.

As a result, a more confident feeling prevailed near the close, and a firm in the Mills Building usually identified with the bull movement, sold 100 shares of various stocks in the last hour of business. The stocks most conspicuous for strength were the gas, the anthracite coalers, and the iron and steel.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Philadelphia and Erie road, held at Philadelphia, a resolution was adopted requesting the incoming Board of Directors to secure, if possible, an exchange of present outstanding stock amounting to $1,500,000, par for par, for Pennsylvania Railroad stock.

The volume of business at the New York Stock Exchange for the week ending Feb. 11, 1893, shows a heavy falling off as compared with 1892, when speculation was abundant and the market was the formation of the Reading coal combine. The following are the comparative figures:

	1892	1893	Dec.
Stocks	1,847,179	436,526	3,109,245
Bonds	1,847,179	436,526	3,109,245
Foreign	1,847,179	436,526	3,109,245

The statement of the New York, New Haven & Hartford for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1892, shows a heavy falling off in the volume of business, and a heavy falling off in the volume of business, and a heavy falling off in the volume of business.

Money has been in good supply at 3 per cent, but in Boston funds are scarce and loans were made at 5 1/2 per cent.

Foreign exchange is firm. There were increased offerings for the week-end, which were quickly absorbed. Bankers' long sterling sold at 48 1/2-48 3/4, and at 48 1/2-48 3/4.

The total sales on the New York Stock Exchange to-day footed up 24,490 shares of listed stocks, in the total of 17,700 shares of Sugar, and 8,740 shares of American Tobacco were traded in.

MAGGIE MANZONI IS DEAD.

No Relief From the Slush, At 1.30 This Morning.

Little Apparent Effort to Make the Streets Passable.

Weather Forecaster Dunn had little to communicate to the public this morning, except the very unwelcome information that the present gloomy and rainy weather, snow and sleet will probably continue until tomorrow evening, and possibly longer.

The region of country over which Jupiter Pluvius seems to have conceived a desire for revenge, Mr. Dunn said, extends from the Alleghenies to the Atlantic, all along the coast.

Up in New England it is snowing and raining. South it is raining. New York has a mixture of both, and a northeast wind blowing twenty-four miles an hour, drives the birds out into the faces of pedestrians.

The atmosphere overhead was mild as a day in October. When compared with the slush and mud-covered pavements, the snow that fell during the night was a relief.

Bankers Waiting to Consult Secretary Foster.

He Visits Wall Street, but Refuses to Talk to Reporters.

What Secretary Foster of the Treasury, will decide to do with reference to the proposed issue of $50,000,000 United States bonds, which he has under advisement, is a question interesting Wall Street to-day.

The Secretary is in town consulting prominent financiers as to the advisability of this scheme, and as soon as he has ascertained the drift of opinion he will go back to Washington and decide upon what steps he will take.

Among those who called upon him yesterday were President Tappan, of the Chase, President Tappan, of the Chase, President Tappan, of the Chase.

President Tappan said this morning: "I have no hesitation in saying that I think the issue of $50,000,000 of bonds is the only way out of the present difficulty that is before us."

The government's gold reserves are being heavily drawn upon, and the only way to meet the demand is to issue bonds.

President Tappan said this morning: "I have no hesitation in saying that I think the issue of $50,000,000 of bonds is the only way out of the present difficulty that is before us."
